

Can I have another few days please!

Posted in General by michaelg on the November 4th, 2005

Wow, the days have just run into each other, it is hard to believe that today is the last day of the show. We have seen so many cool new products in the last couple of days it is hard to describe or choose which is the coolest as every time we turn around another manufacturer is showing off more new cool stuff, I need another few days to finish seeing all the new stuff and I have not even set foot into the wheels and tires South Hall!

One of the cool things we found this year in a booth next to us was this product by LaFrance Ventures. Check this out :

LaFrance Ventures, LLC, a leading supplier of products that integrates advanced technology with style for the automotive industry has announced, and has been demonstrating to great reviews, the 'Magic Touch', touch sensitive automotive door handles, which allow a car owner to replace the OEM door handle with one that is smooth with the surface of the door giving the car the clean look of shaved door handles without having to perform any bodywork or repaint the doors. And with just the Magic Touch, the handle detects the presence of their hand without any pressure or moving parts and pops open the door.

This new product was also featured on Overhaulin' with Chip Foose November 1st, the first day of SEMA 2005. "Magic Touch is the first new innovative product that I've seen for a while," said Chip Foose of Foose Design. "This product allows anyone to get rid of the unsightly factory door handles, and get the clean shaved handle look without having to do any bodywork."

The Magic is All in the Touch!